Dear Department of Financial Protection and Innovation,

Future Majority is writing today to express our concern about the newly proposed law, PRO 01-21. Earned Wage Access is a worker's right, and rule PRO 01-21 would make it harder for Californians to get by.

Workers deserve to access wages they've rightfully earned without the burden of mandatory fees. Workers have surrendered too many freedoms already and enforcing these mandatory fees will do more harm than good.

Our public opinion research shows that wide majorities of voters feel like they are falling behind the cost of living and support innovative solutions. California should make it easier for workers to access what they have earned and give them freedom to build a better financial future for themselves and their families.

California wants to be a national leader in protecting freedom. It should do so in its efforts to protect and expand economic freedom, as it is working to do for personal freedom.

Please reconsider PRO 01-21 and protect Earned Wage Access.

Sincerely,

Matthew A. Tompkins
